

SABOT

© 2000 by the author(s). All rights reserved.
No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without prior written permission from the author(s).

prosbolia

1. A prosbolia is a small, round, hard, brownish, and often irregularly shaped, seed-like object that is found in the soil.

2. It is a type of seed that is found in the soil, and it is often used as a seed for the purpose of growing a plant.

3. It is a type of seed that is found in the soil, and it is often used as a seed for the purpose of growing a plant.